About This Exhibition: A Moment of Reflection

When one looks at art they can become deeply immersed into works that engender contemplation. The artist captures a deep moment of reflection or meditative state. It isn't about a knowing or concept but a feeling of now, of just this – a moment to reflect on. It is contemplative, not confrontational. Its impact is residual. What do you create in moments that are reflective?

About The Juror:

Emebet Korn is the owner and curator of Desta Contemporary Fine Art Gallery and Art Consulting Services in Mill Valley. Korn's focus has primarily been on contemporary art by emerging and established artists. Desta Gallery strives to connect collectors, artists, and communities in an atmosphere that inspires creativity and reflection. The gallery also has an online presence and supports clients nationwide and worldwide.

Born in Ethiopia, Korn moved to the Bay Area to attend college, studying fashion design and art and eventually launching her own line of high end women's apparel. She's also served as a design consultant over the years and ran her own nonprofit before opening an art and tea gallery, before eventually focusing just on the art itself.
